SAFETY, HEALTH, AND ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

Health management, occupational medicine, and ambulance

Our highly-trained medical team conducts health screenings, consultations, and workstation inspections on the basis of occupational health and safety laws and based on occupational health and safety authority regulations. Our principle is: "Prevention is better than healing"

The profitability of a company depends on the subject-matter expertise of its workforce, but equally so on employee morale, creativity, well-being, and health. Our highly-qualified team of occupational medical professionals and occupational medical staff organizes and conducts employee health screenings, and documents their results.

Our services:

- Consult on health and safety at work
- Training related to occupational accident and health risks
- Organize, conduct, and document occupational health screenings as mandated by the occupational health screening directive (arbeitsmedizinische Vorsorgeverordnung).
- Conduct employment health screenings
- Biomonitoring
- Conduct physical examinations mandated by special regulations (such as youth protection and maternal leave act, driving permit directive)
- Occupational safety meetings with factory inspectorate and occupational health & safety officials
- Participate in factory inspections and occupational safety committee meetings
- Support for return to work management
- Evaluate working conditions by participating in workstation and hazard analyses
- Investigate and consult on work-related health impairments and illnesses
